

KRULL™

A Puppy for Titch

THE CHRONICLES OF KRULL™

A Puppy for Titch COLORING BOOK

by
David Anthony Kraft
Alan Kupperberg
and
Jim Mooney

MARVEL® BOOKS

KRULL Copyright © 1983 Columbia Pictures Industries, Inc. All rights reserved.

Published by Marvel Books, a division of Cadence Industries Corporation.

387 Park Avenue South, New York, NY 10016

Printed in Canada.

ISBN: 0-939766-26-4

This is Colwyn and Lyssa, the legendary King and Queen of Krull!

These are the noble Torquill and Oswyn, lords and mighty friends of Colwyn and Lyssa.

The wizard, Ergo, is an able ally—when he's not busy stuffing himself full of goodies.

Here is Titch. His biggest wish is that one day soon he will have a puppy.

"It is a beautiful morning for dueling," says Colwyn.

"A great fall day, eh, Colwyn?" laughs Torquill.

"This is really great, isn't it?" says Oswyn.

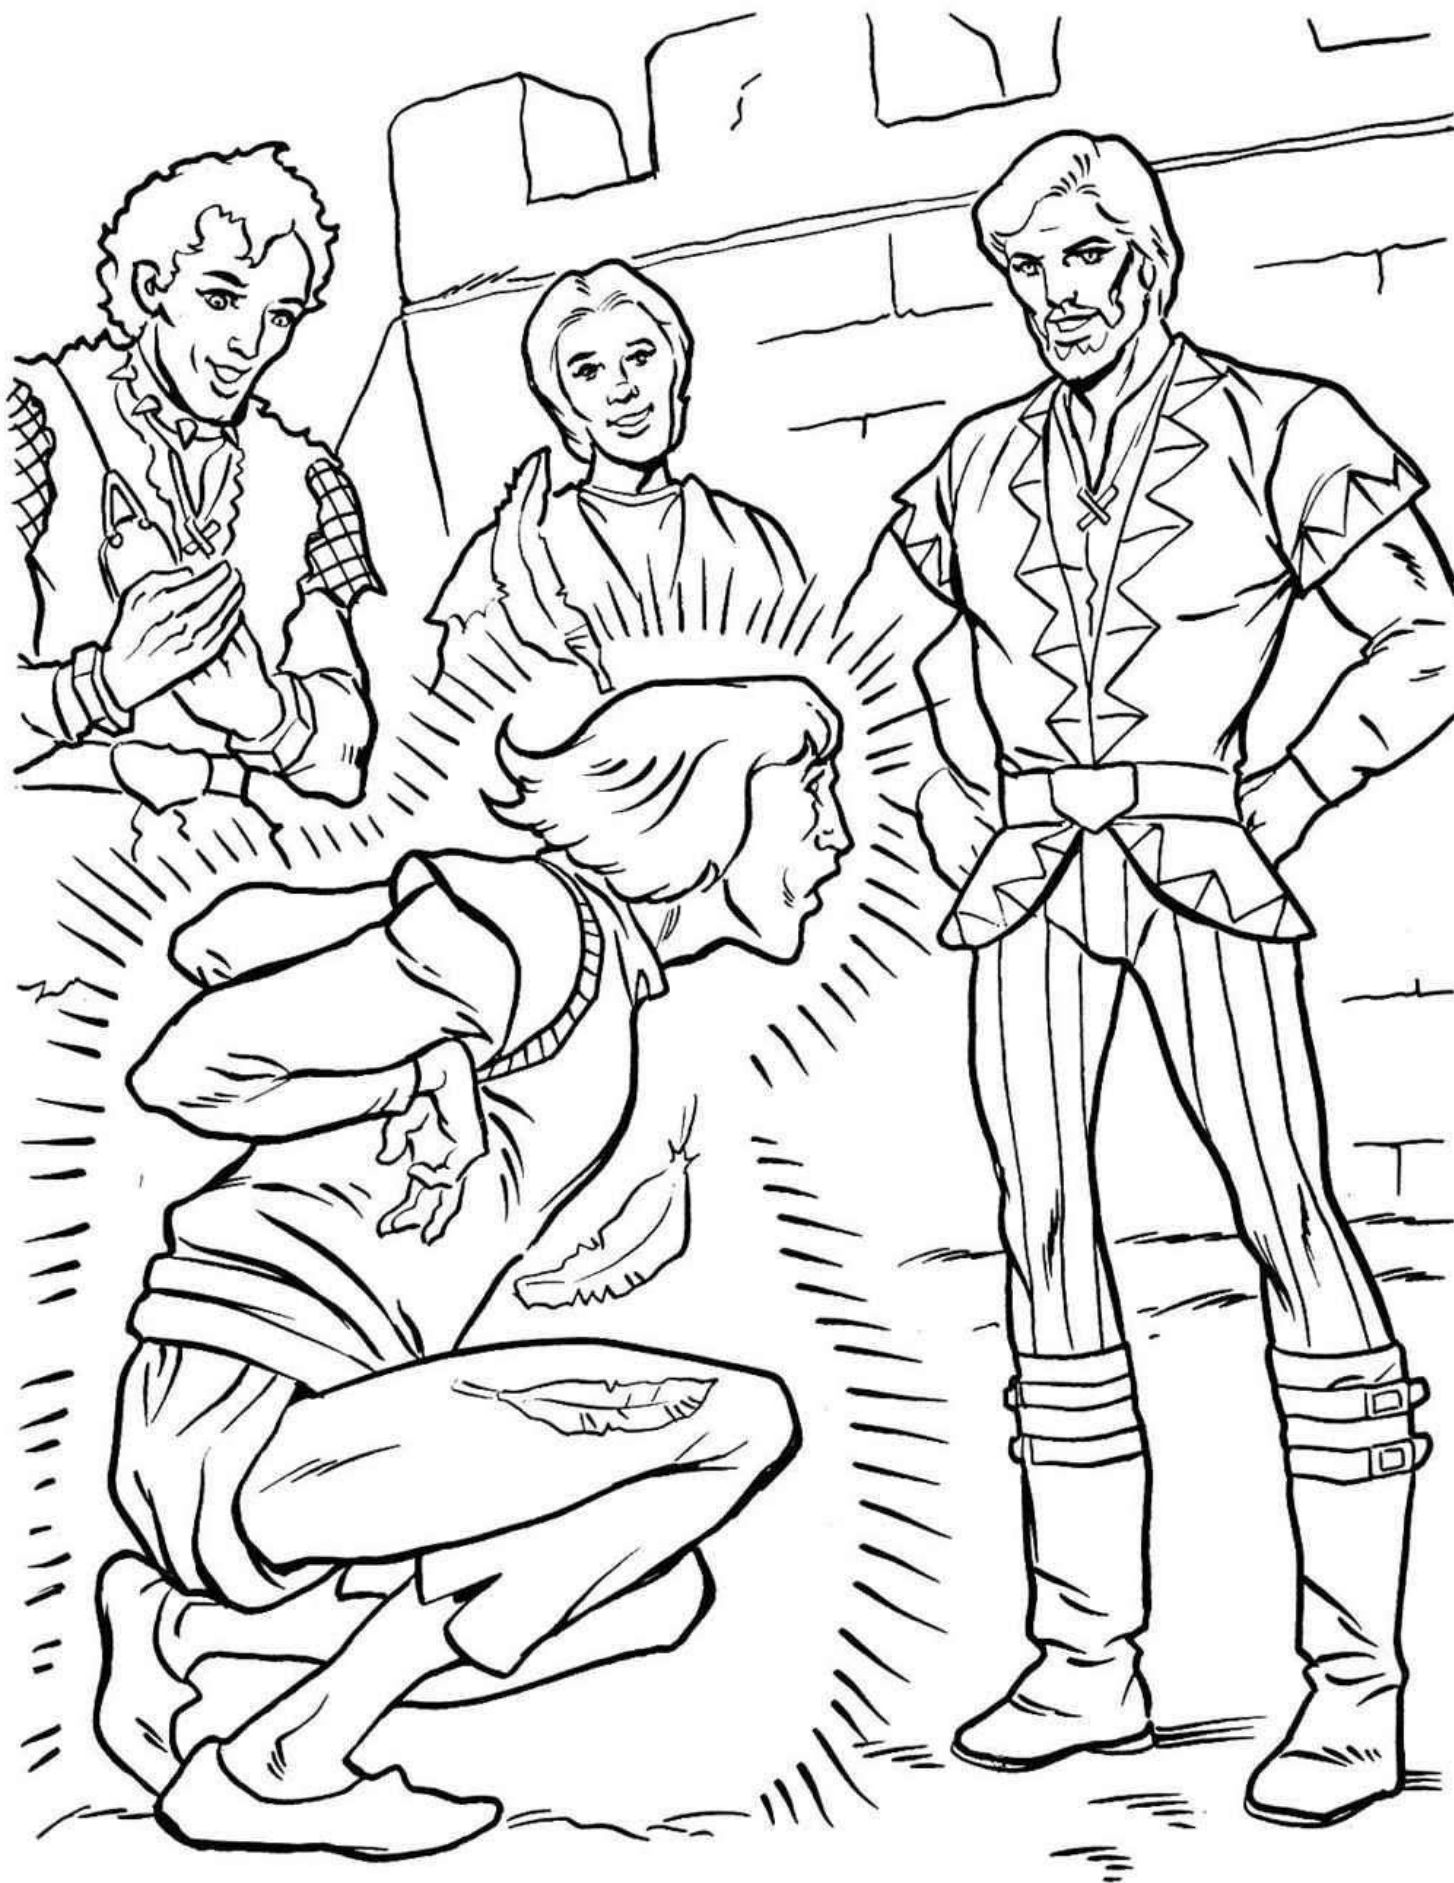

"Bah!" says Ergo, "what good are weapons when I can turn them into geese! Watch!"

"Honk! Honk!"

"Ha! Ha! You turned yourself into a goose, Ergo!" laughs Oswyn.

With a loud squawk, Ergo becomes himself again,
much to the amusement of his friends.

Meanwhile, not far away . . .

"I'm worried about Titch," thinks Ergo, "he's been unhappy for days—and he's not told anyone why!"

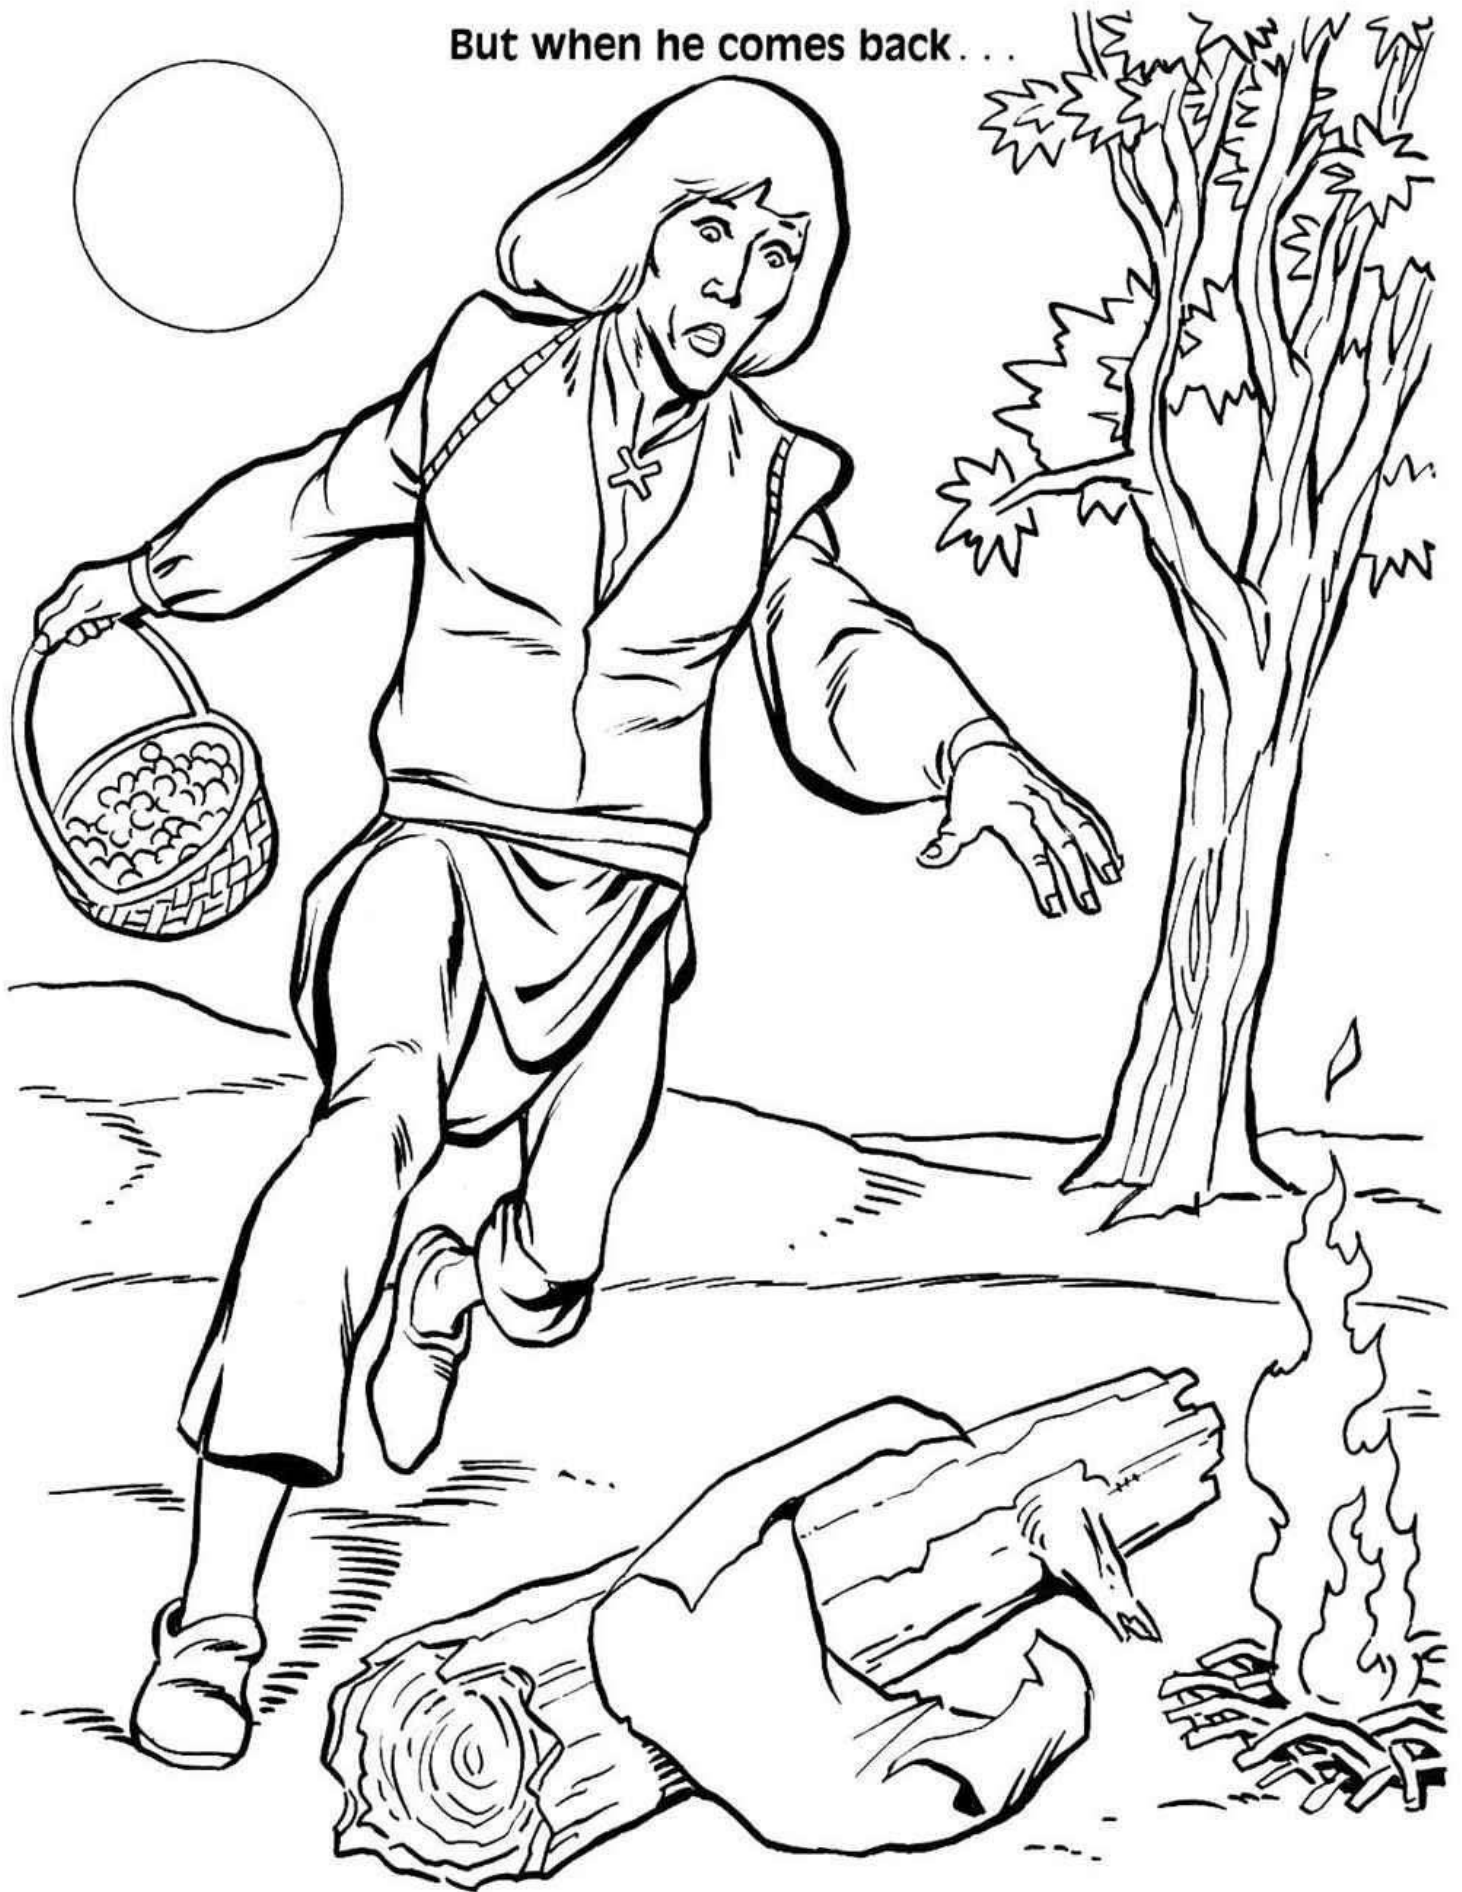

"I must do something to cheer up Titch," thinks Ergo.

"I know! I'll get him a basket of gooseberries!"
says Ergo to himself.

But when he comes back . . .

"Oh, no!" shouts Ergo. "Titch is gone!"

I HATE BEING UNHAPPY!
I'M NOT COMING BACK
UNTIL I FIND ME A PUPPY!
TITCH

"I must tell Colwyn!" says Ergo.

"Colwyn! Titch has run away!" shouts Ergo.

"We must spread out and find Titch before the Slayers or Changelings do!" says Colwyn.

"Maybe Titch climbed this mountain, Oswyn," says Torquill.

He leans back and suddenly...

"Ugh! I'm caught in a giant spider-web!" says Torquill.

"Help! Oswyn! A giant spider!"

"Whew! Just in time!" says Torquil. "Thanks, Oswyn!"

Meanwhile, Colwyn searches for Titch in the forest.

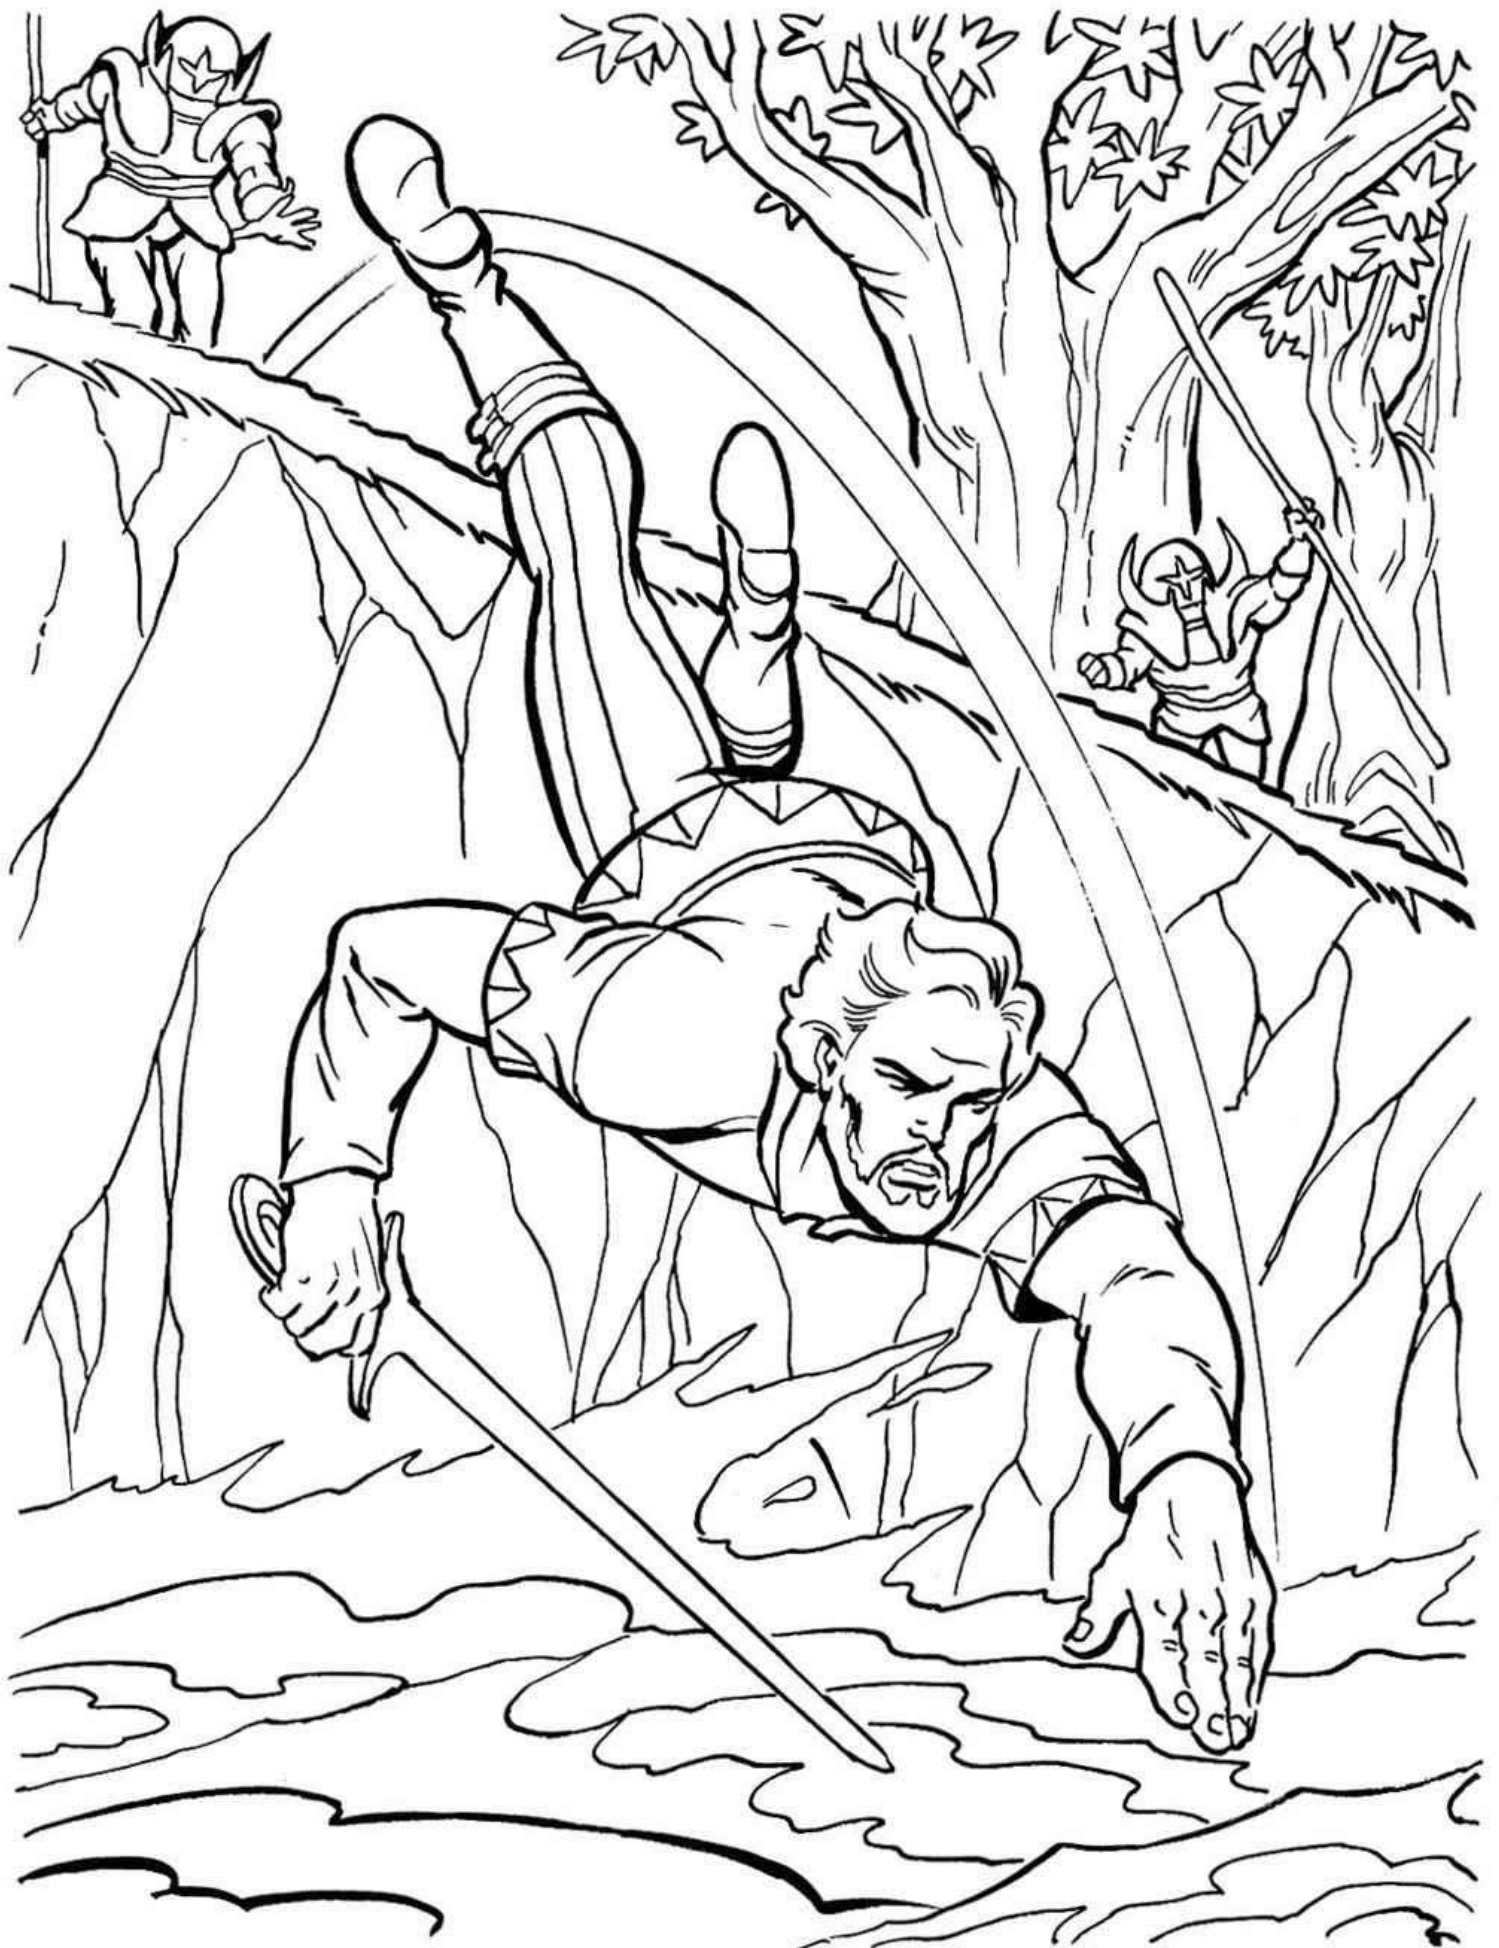

"Slayers!"

"Colwyn is down!" shout the Slayers. "Now we have him!"

"There are too many Slayers to beat!" thinks Colwyn. "I can't let them capture me! But how can I escape?"

"I know—the river!" shouts Colwyn.

"I got free from the Slayers!" thinks Colwyn. "But now I'm trapped in this roaring river! The current is pulling me under!"

"Any man who escapes from the Slayers deserves to be saved!"
says the Cyclops.

"He will rest here by my campfire," thinks the Cyclops.

Meanwhile...

The others may travel on the ground, but Ergo is going to take to the air!

"My falcon-sharp eyes could spot a needle in a haystack!" says Ergo.

"There's Titch! I must stop him, before he goes into the Great Swamp!" says Ergo.

"Titch! Stop! Don't go into the swamp!"

"You're not Titch! You're a Changeling!" shouts Ergo.

"Yes! And you're going to be my prisoner!" says the evil Changeling.

"That's what you think!" says Ergo. "I'm flying the coop!"

Meanwhile, Colwyn has recovered from his fight.

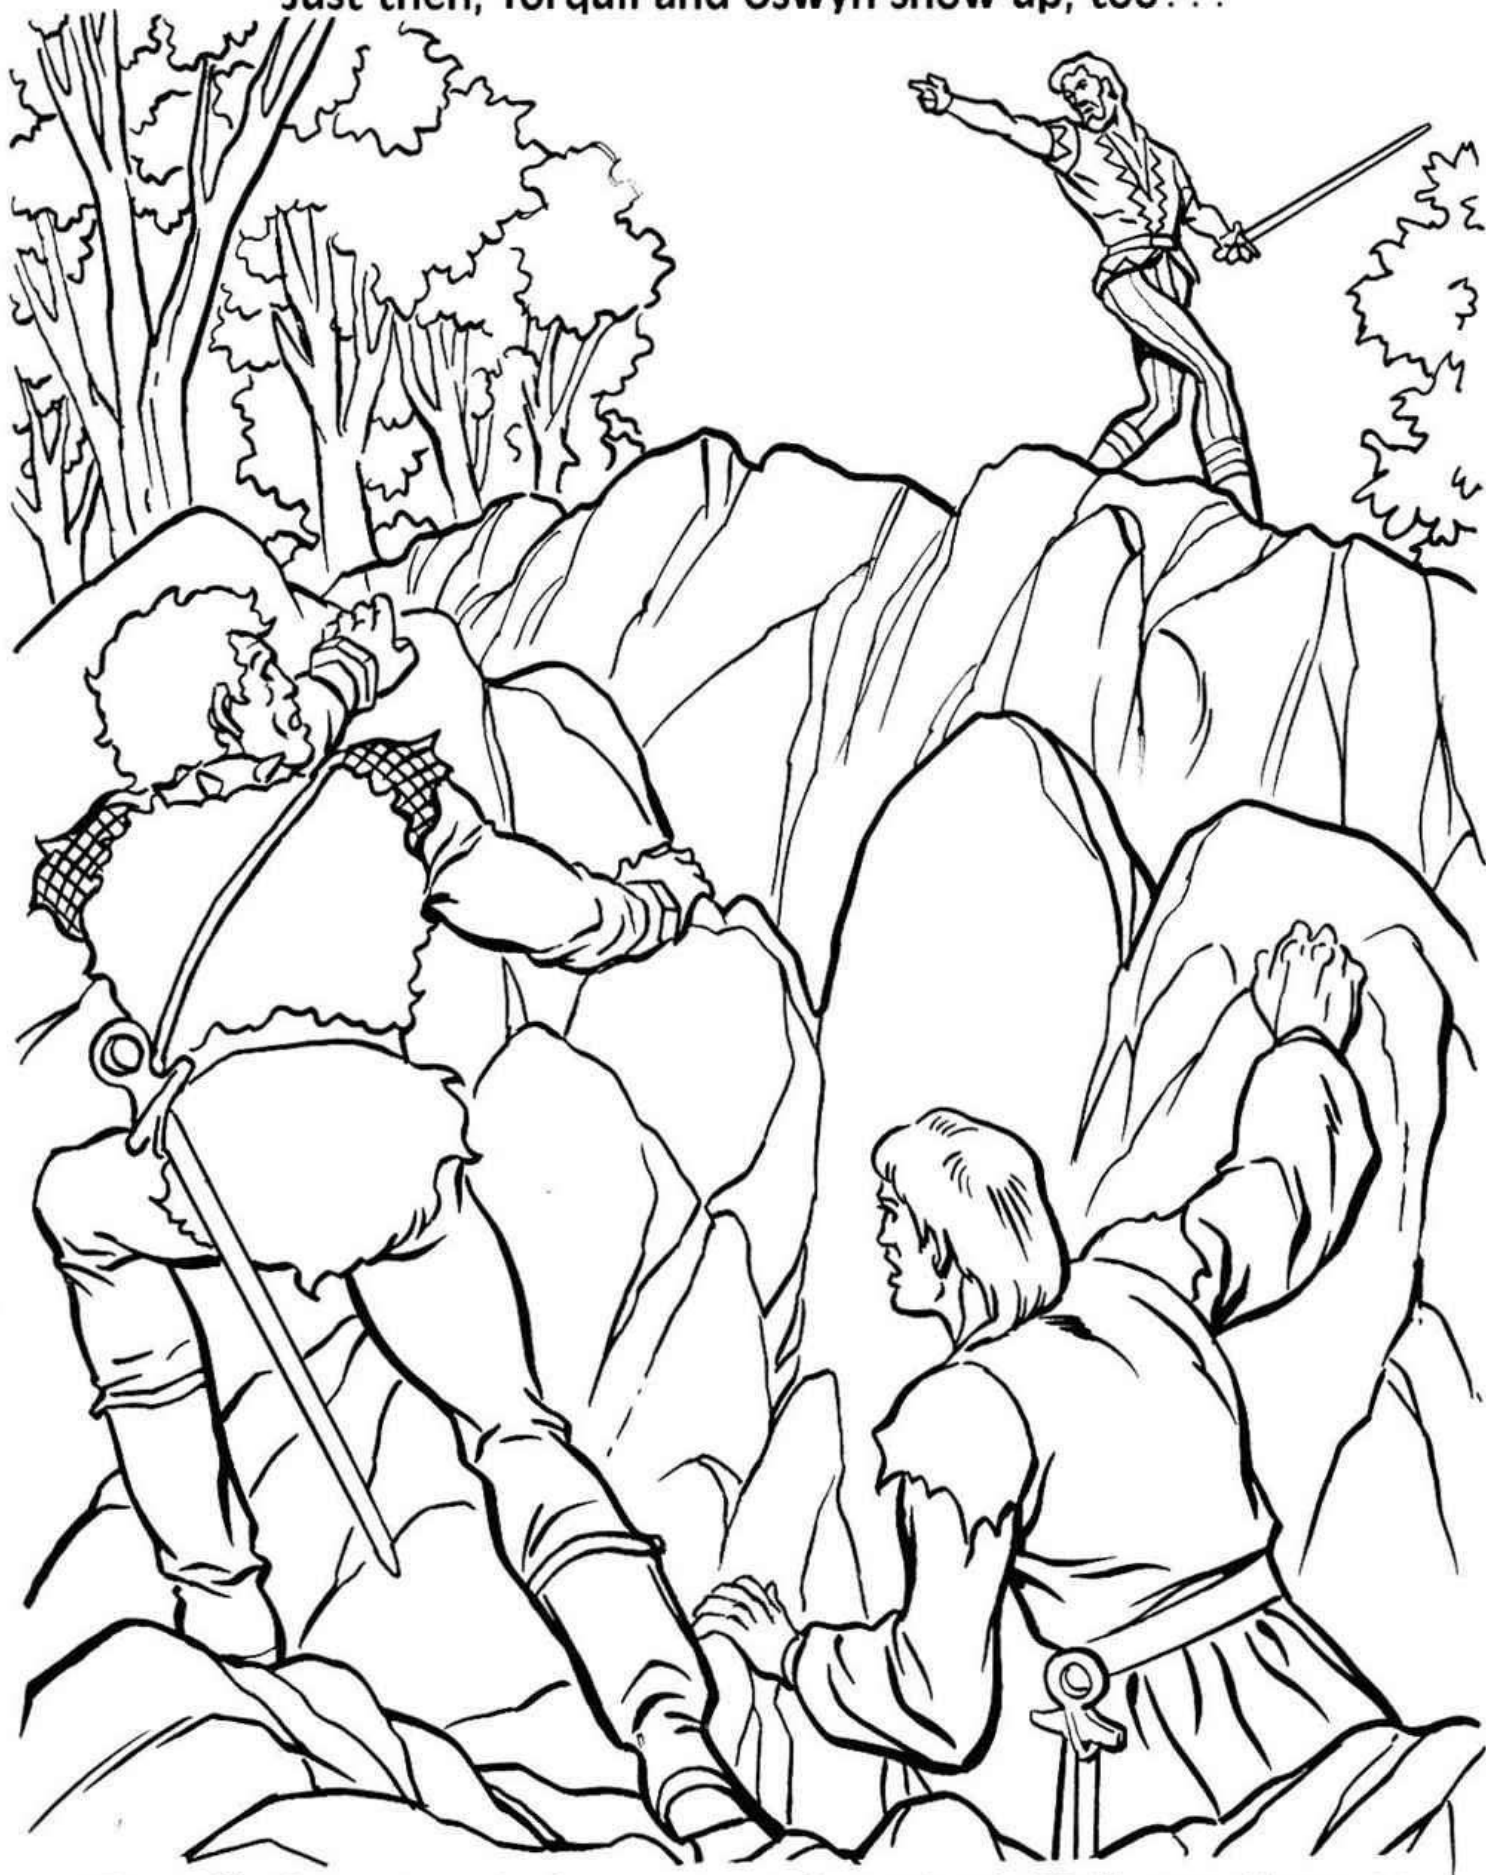

"Thank you for your help, Cyclops!" says Colwyn.
"Now I must go and find Titch!"

A few minutes later: "There's Titch—trapped by those wolves!" says Colwyn.

Just then, Torquil and Oswyn show up, too . . .

"Torquil, Oswyn, cut down some branches! We'll use them as torches to scare away the wolves!" says Colwyn.

"Have courage, Titch! We'll save you!"

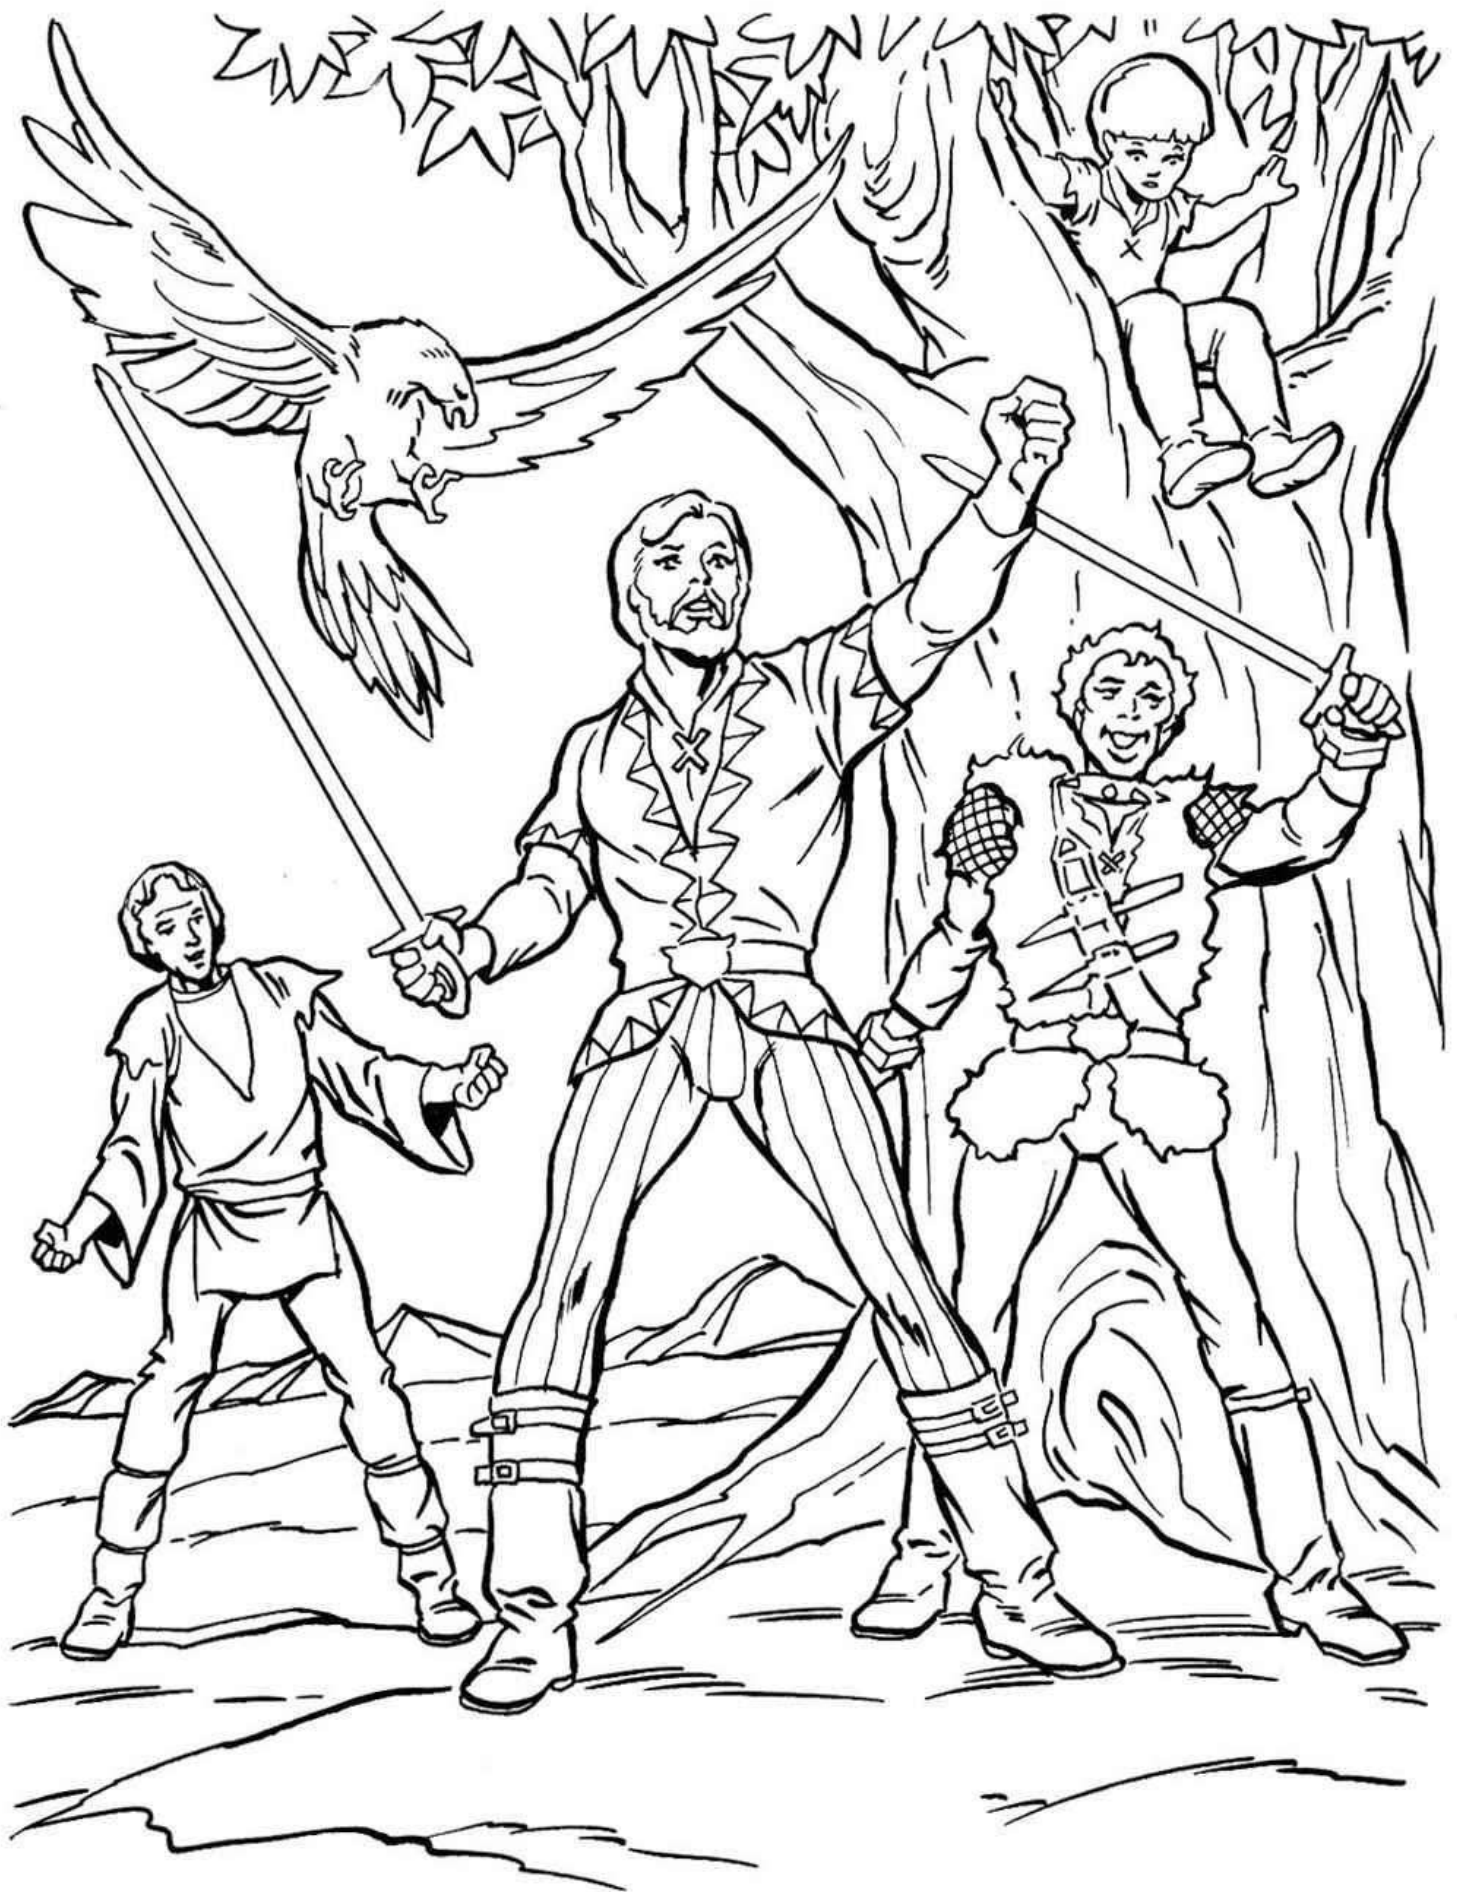

"Get out of here! Leave us alone!"

"Screee! The wolves don't stand a chance against my swooping attack!" says Ergo.

"They're driving the wolves away!" says Titch.

"Hooray! We won! Titch is saved!"

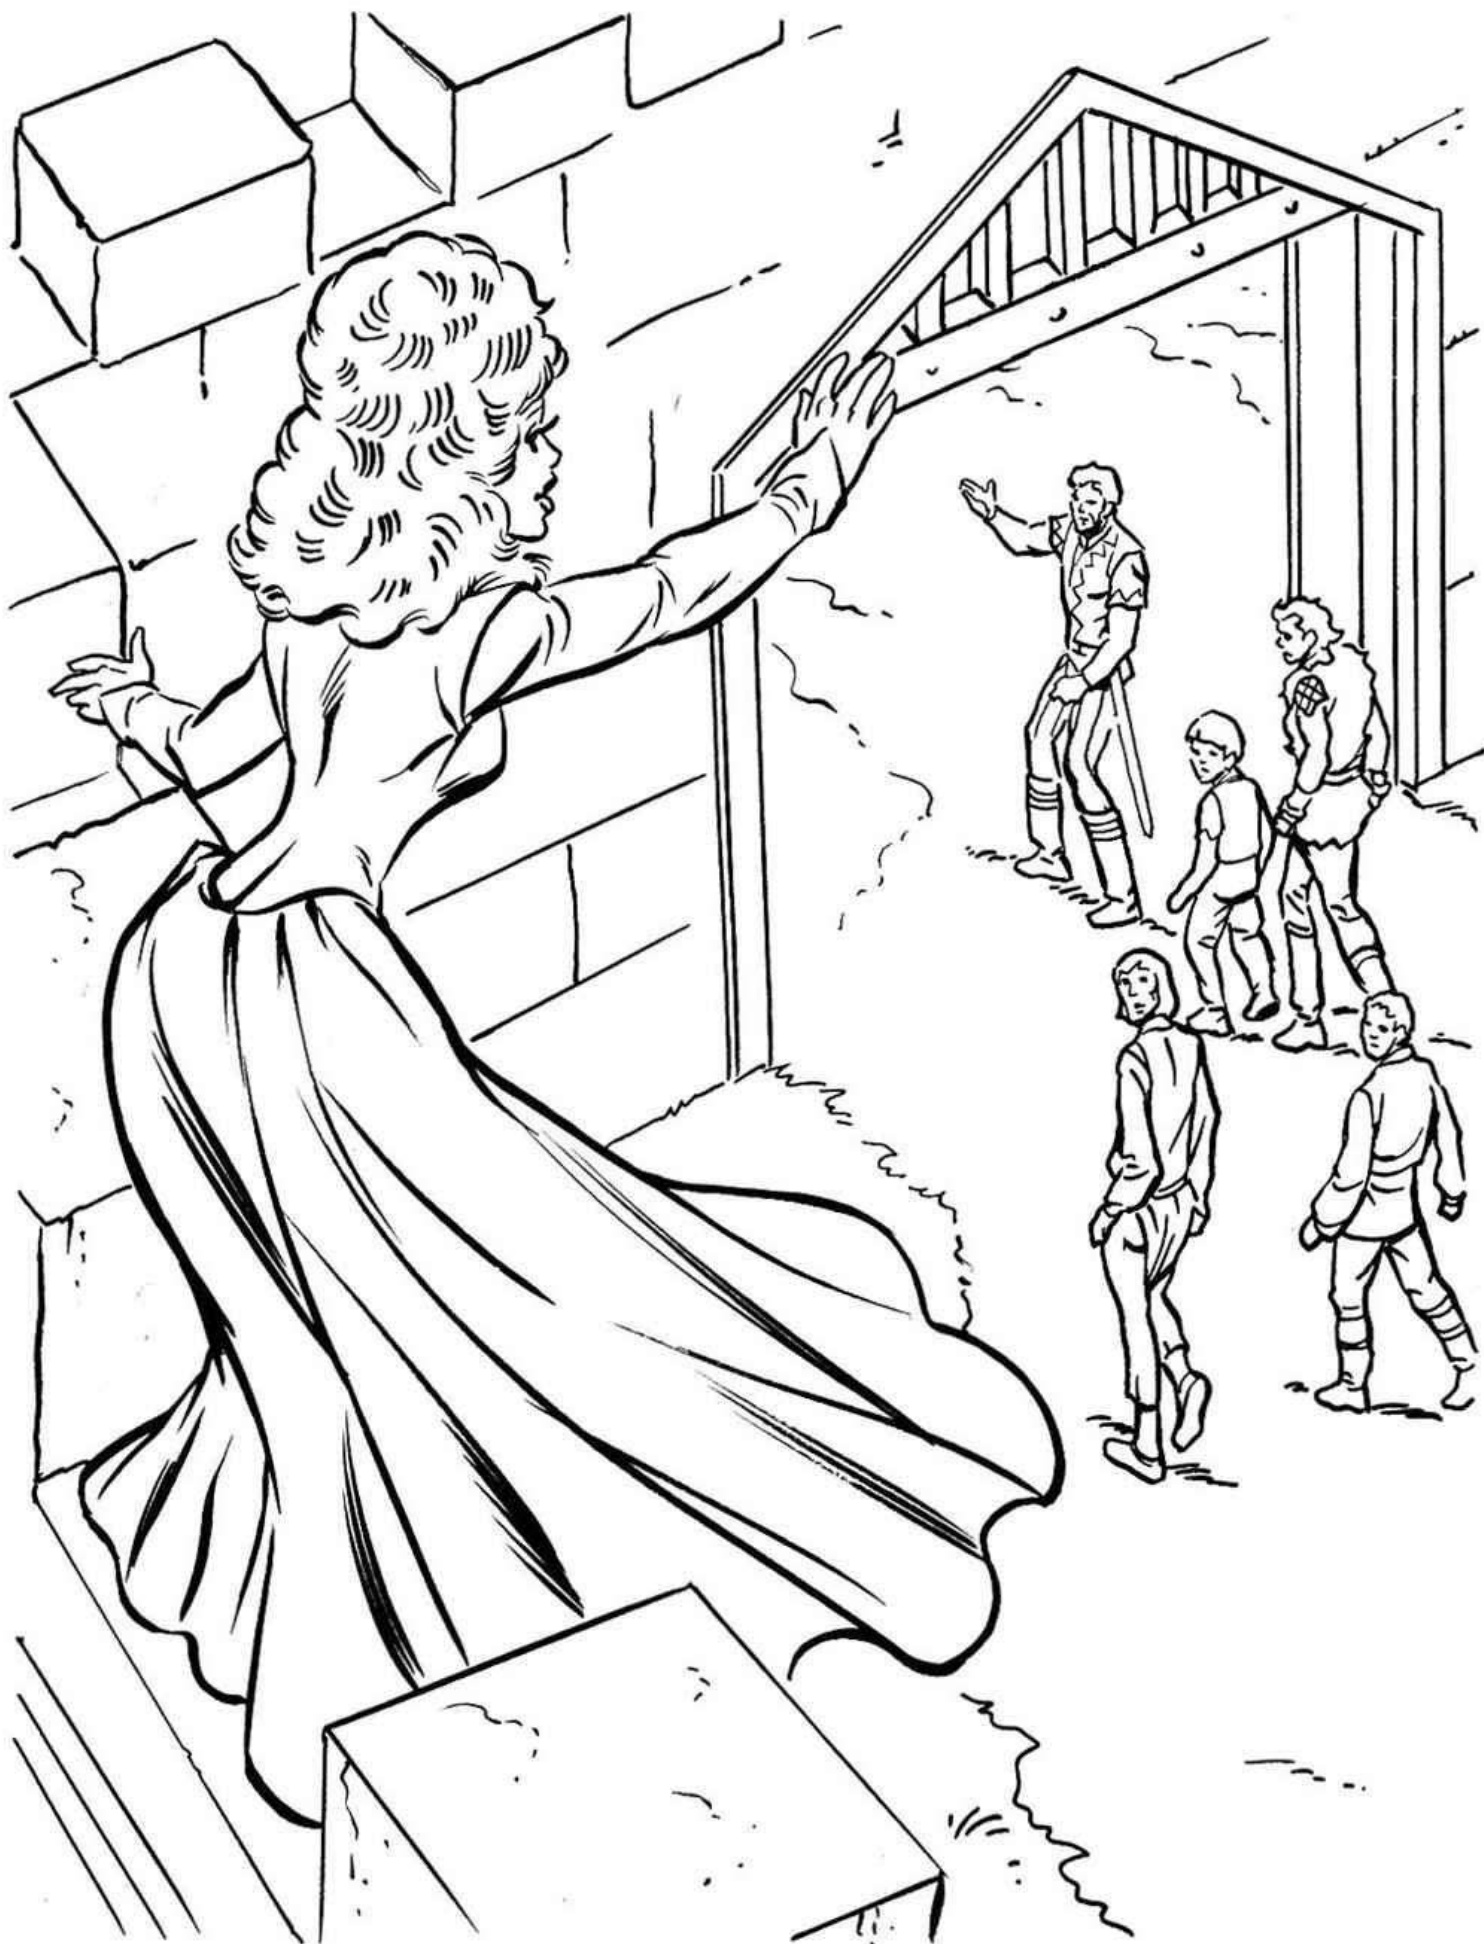

"You really scared us, leaving like that, Titch," says Colwyn.

"I'm sorry, but I want a puppy!" says Titch.

"We'll see about getting you one," says Torquill.
"Right!" adds Ergo.

"You're all back safe and sound! Hooray!"

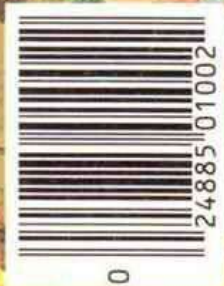

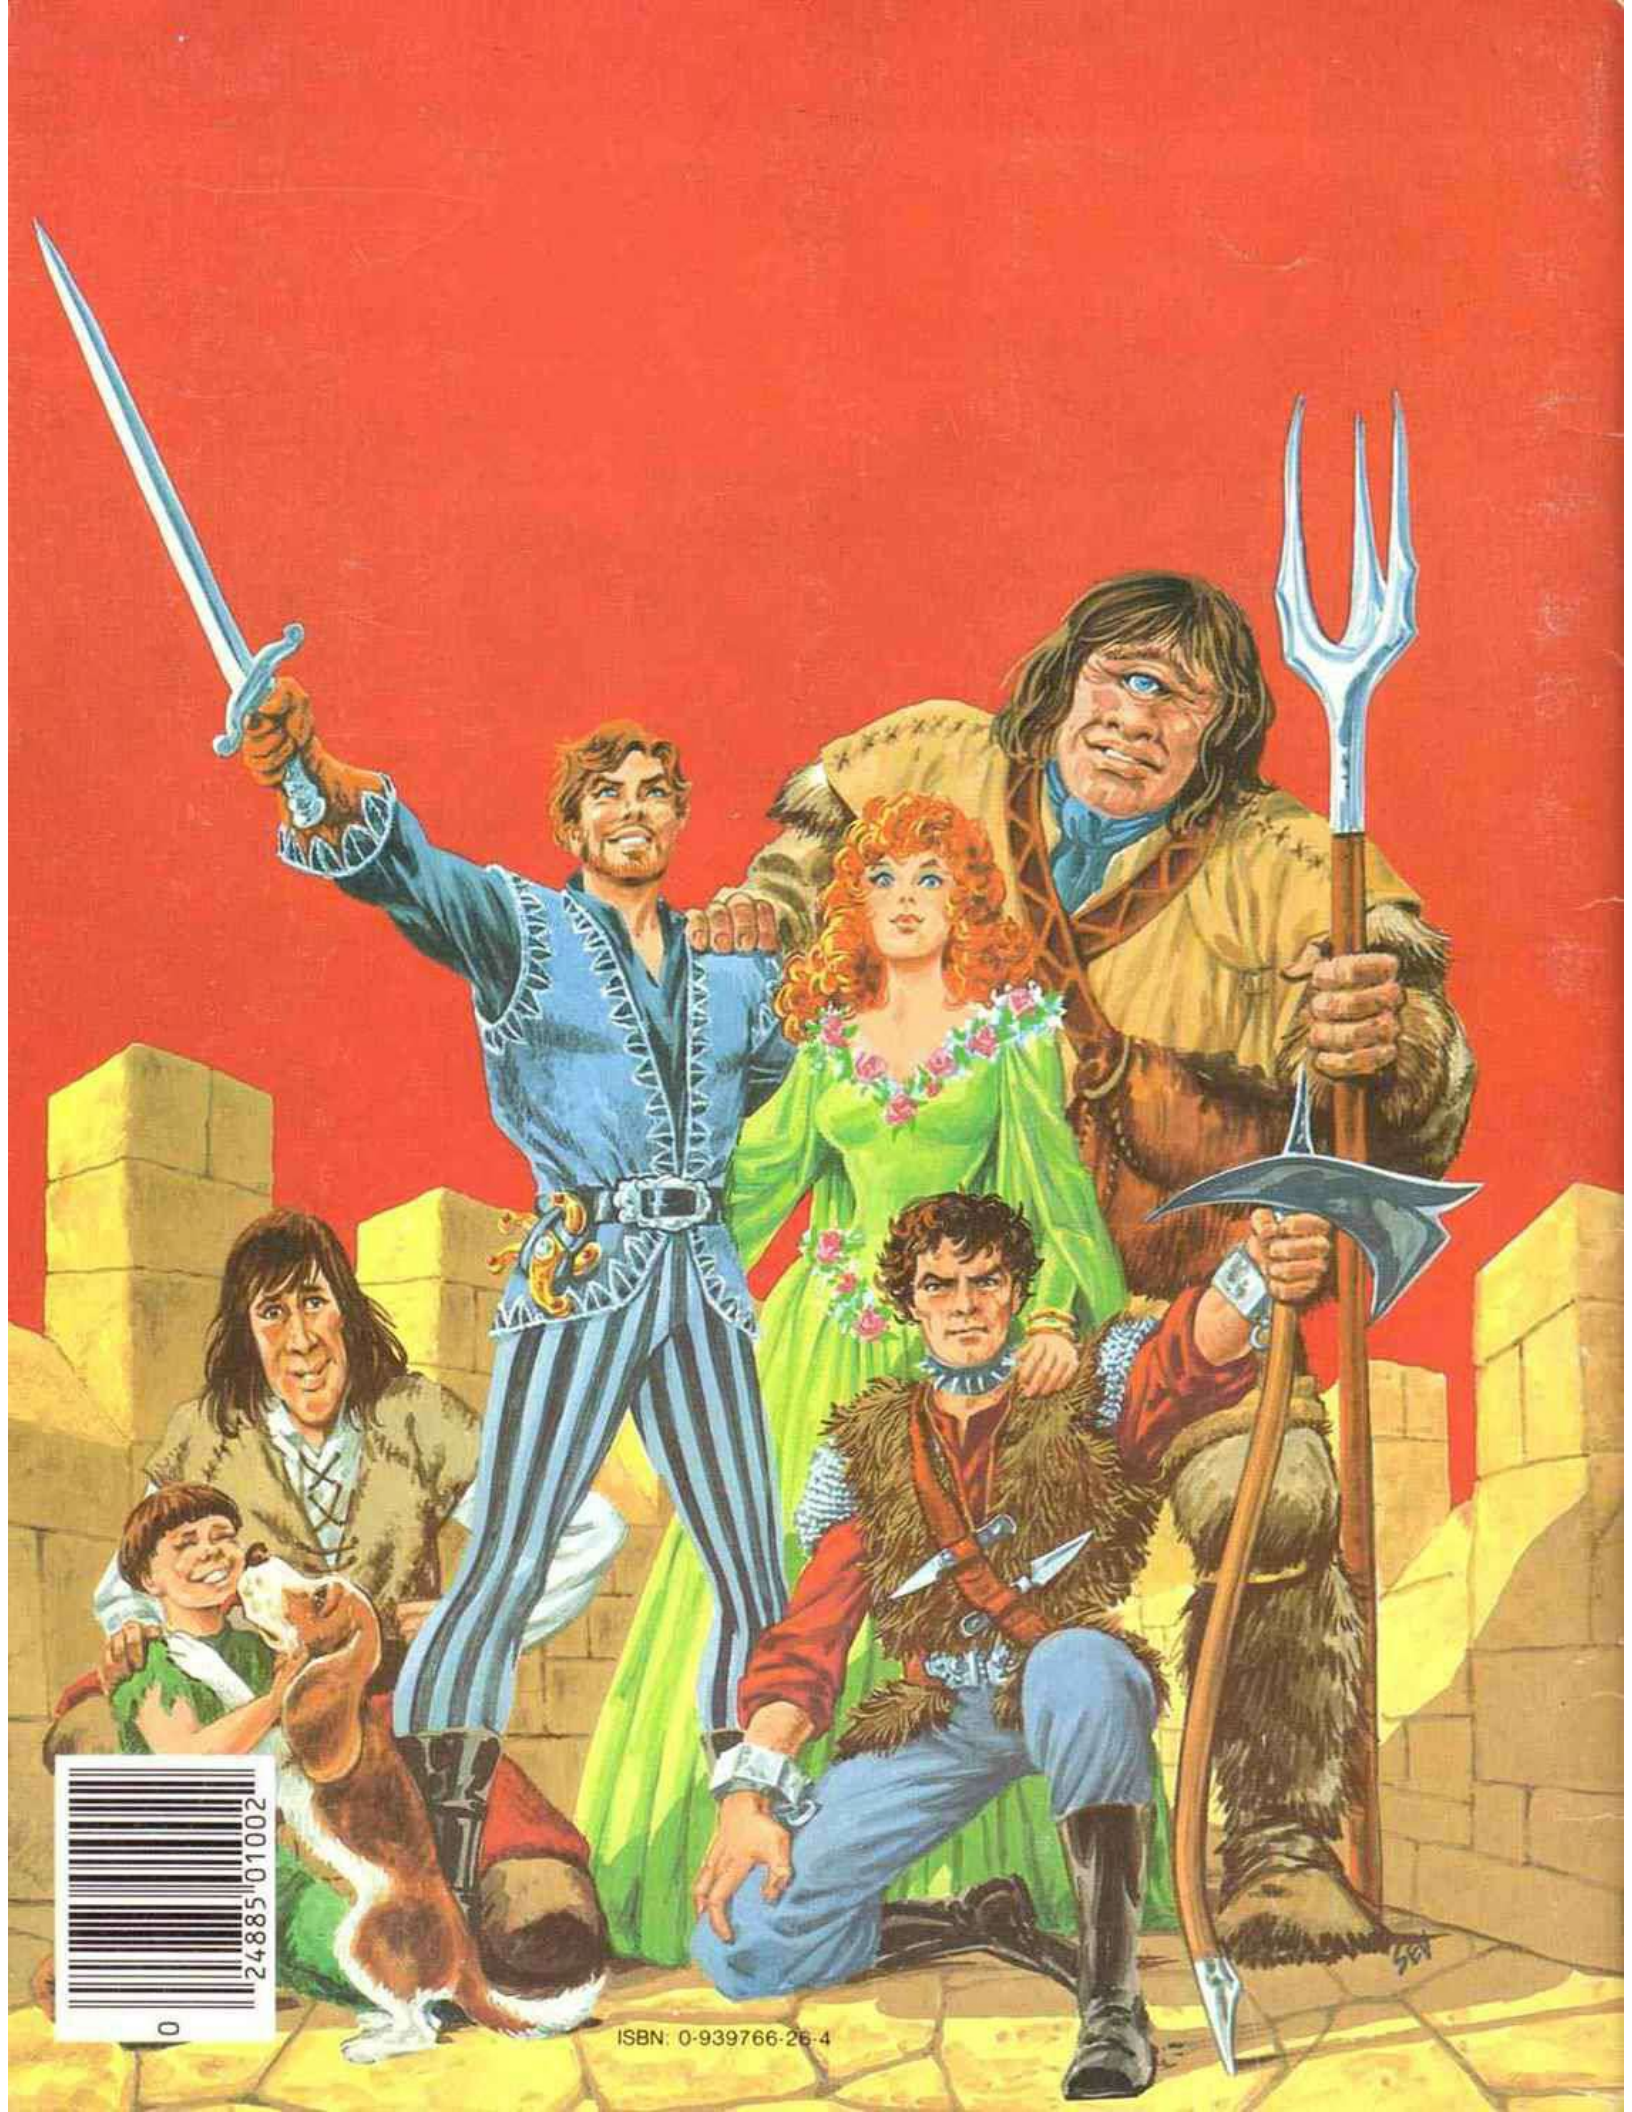

"Come to your room, Titch, we've got a surprise for you!" says Lyssa.

"What Is It?" says Titch.

"A puppy!" shouts Titch, happily.

ISBN: 0-939766-26-4